OPINIONS EXPRESSED

was that Ardmore would subscribe to stock in the concern. The farmers were to have the use of the warehouse for five years. At the expiration of that time the warehouse and ground upon which it was situated would revert to the stockholders. That the property wherein the warehouse is situated will be worth all that was paid for it at the expiration of that time, and enough more to pay interest on the money is also the opinion of Mr. Taylor.

"The people of Ardmore do not seem to recognize what the location of the warehouse will mean to this town," said Mr. Taylor. "It means an assurance of the trust of the farmers of counties surrounding this city. The farmers are going to have the warehouse, they have got to have it and they have only given Ardmore the first chance to say whether she wants it or not. If she does not it will be located elsewhere."

"Looking at the matter from a business standpoint," Mr. Taylor said, "the farmer needs the warehouse to assist him in his struggles to get out of debt. If they had had the warehouse during the season which has just passed the farmers who did business in Ardmore would have been $183,000 better off. As a demonstration of this fact: during the past season Ardmore received 23,000 bales of cotton from the farmers living in this section. The farmer was paid on the average of 9 cents per pound for the staple. Today this cotton is worth 11 cents per pound. Figure the loss to the farmer. If he had been able to hold his cotton, which he could do if given a warehouse he would have received something like $183,000 more than he did. This money would have reverted to the business men of Ardmore. But as it was, the farmer had to sell his crop as soon as it was harvested with the result that he lost money as well as did the town."

Capt. W. F. Whittington, vice president of the Commercial Club is also of the opinion that the property owners of the town are making a great mistake in not raising this money. Mr. Whittington is a member of the committee who was appointed to raise the fund. He is also a heavy property owner. He stated this morning that the action some of the wealthy men and property owners of the town had taken in this matter was enough to disinterest any committee.

"What we will have to do," said the

Mother's Friend

Captain, "is to get out to the meeting of the Commercial Club Wednesday night and discuss this thing thoroughly. Every man who owns a piece of property in the town should come out. It is not a matter where one or two or three men can carry the load but all will have to assist."

The amount necessary to be raised is $12,500. Of this only $2,500 has been subscribed. Dividing the load up equally among one hundred men each would have to take only $125 worth of stock. Let every one who owns property attend the Wednesday night meeting, and finally settle this matter in some way.

Red Cross Society Disbands.

Ardmoreite Special.
Spokane, Wash., May 28.—Delegates from the auxiliaries of the Washington State Red Cross society met here today for the purpose of disbanding. Two years ago, when congress voted to reorganize the Red Cross society, most of the state organizations disbanded, but the Washington society has deferred such action until the present time. The affairs of the society will be wound up at today's meeting and the money in the treasury given to some charity. The Red Cross had branches in Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Walla Walla and North Yakima.

M. Schnieder Dead.

Sherman, Texas, May 27.—Word has been received from Sherman of the death in New York of M. Schnieder, who for years was the leading dry goods merchant of Sherman. For the past several years he had spent most of his time in Ardmore, where he held large interests. He had been in indifferent health for some time past.

PRIEST'S BODY IN A TRUNK

belonging to Ermojian, an Armenian, who he said roomed with him for four months and up to last Monday night, when he quit the house. Pashakarian told the police Ermojian, previous to his coming to this city, had worked in a restaurant at West Pullman, Chicago.

The police theory is that the priest was murdered in the Tenth avenue house. They believe that the priest was lured to this room, there drugged, robbed and murdered and the trunk later sent to the West Thirty-seventh street address.

A Watch Story.

The police were looking for Eb Williams, colored this morning to recover a watch belonging to Miss Lucile Busby, one of the clerks in Madden & Company's store. The young lady dropped the watch this morning while walking down the street. Williams, it is said, was seen to pick it up. He disappeared after that, but was found this afternoon. At first he claimed no knowledge of the watch. It was afterwards returned.

With some people trying to make both ends meet is an endless task.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

Every Appliance for Woman's Work Should Be the Best for Its Purpose.

There is as great a difference in the cost of making a sewing machine as there is in making a watch. A cheap watch will indicate time with fair accuracy for a short time; fairly good stitching can be done on some of the old patterns of cheap sewing machines when they are new, but they always work hard, are noisy, and soon wear out.

Every Singer and Wheeler & Wilson machine is tested by actual sewing at the factory; it is always ready for every kind of stitching and will do better work and do it longer than any other, because it is of better design and construction.

ARDMORE'S NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDINGS

The two new school buildings being erected in the Second and Fourth wards, for the convenience of the public school students of these wards, will have been completed by the end of the present week. The plans of the contractors are not interfered with.

One of the buildings, that in the Fourth ward, had been completed, but the board of education will not accept either until both are completed. This it is expected will be the latter part of the week, in which case the board will probably visit the buildings Monday next, and either reject or accept them.

A member of the contracting firm which is erecting the buildings said this morning in speaking of completing the buildings that it was expected that the school houses would have been completed today, but the weather interfered and it will probably be the end of the week before the work is finished. There is very little work to do on the second ward building, while the fourth ward building is completed. In his opinion his firm will be ready to turn over the buildings to the inspection of the board of trustees within a few days.

The two new buildings which have been added to Ardmore's school facilities at a cost of $36,100 are probably the handsomest public school buildings in the Indian Territory. Both have good locations for school purposes and both present a pretentious sight.

The same plans have been used in the construction of both buildings and the furniture and fixtures will be the same.

The buildings are two-story structures, built of stone and brick. The best material obtainable has been used in their construction, and considerable attention has been given the construction of the building on modern plans to make them comfortable for school purposes.

The red fire proof brick, a distinctive feature with white stone has given the outside of the buildings a handsome appearance. Each building contains eight large, well lighted and airy rooms for school purposes, with a number of closets and ante rooms for other purposes. Four of these rooms are located on the first floor and four on the second floor. In the basement the steam heating apparatus and general storage rooms are located.

On each floor the architect has given special attention towards providing wide corridors and wide stair-steps, with the result that there is no crowding in the new buildings.

The addition of the two new buildings soon to be accepted and which will be pressed into service at the next scholastic term gives Ardmore room for seating and comfortably caring for 2500 students, while at present the facilities are over-crowded with only something like an average attendance of 1600 pupils. This congested condition has interfered with the school progress to some extent, but it will be forever done away with now.

With the two new buildings Ardmore will have four suitable places for the instruction of her children, one handsome brick school building in each ward.

The superintendent of the schools and the teachers who have visited the new buildings are greatly pleased with their construction and of the fact that they will be a great assistance in the next year's school work.

"Ardmore is growing fast," said Superintendent Evans yesterday, "and it will not be many years before a High School building will be needed within two years."
